NOTES IN SEASON.

THE OFFICE OF THE PUBLISHERS' WEEKLY is now ready to deliver the "Reference Catalogue of Current English Literature," better known, perhaps, as "Whitaker's Reference Catalogue." The volume is arranged on the plan of the "Publishers' Trade List Annual"—the 1898 volume of which will be ready early in August—and contains the 1896-1897 lists of upwards of 150 publishers. An index is prefixed containing well over 100,000 references to the books catalogued. The American edition is limited to 250 copies.

THOMAS Y. CROWELL & CO. have just issued an authorized translation, by Aylmer Maude, of Tolstof's latest work, entitled "What is Art?"

E. P. DUTTON & CO. will publish in September a historical romance by Kathleen Gray Nelson, entitled "Tuen, Slave and Empress." The scene is laid in China, and the story, with the exception of the dialogue, is said to be fact.

HERBERT S. STONE & CO. have just issued an authoritative book on the Klondike, under the title "The Rainbow's End: Alaska." The author, Mrs. Henderson, has just returned from Alaska and thoroughly knows the region from a prospector's and miner's standpoint. She writes most entertainingly.

MATTHEW BENDER, Albany, N. Y., has just published "The War Revenue Law of 1898," annotated by Edward L. Heydecker, author of "Commentary on the Mechanic Lien Law," and Fulton McMahon, of the New York bar. A specially valuable feature of this edition is a full record of the bibliography on the subject.

HOBART J. SHANLEY & CO., Burlington, Vt., have just published an interesting historical story entitled "A Hero of Ticonderoga," by Rowland E. Robinson. The hero of the story is Nathan Beman, the lad who guided Ethan Allen into Fort Ticonderoga, and the story ends with the capture of the fort. The book incidentally gives a picture of the pioneer life of the time, and refers to the trouble between the New Yorkers and the Vermonters.

DOUBLEDAY & MCCLURE COMPANY announce that in co-operation with J. M. Dent & Co. they will publish an edition of the novels of Dickens in small volumes, put forth with the same taste displayed by Mr. Dent in his Temple edition. The set will be complete in forty volumes; the first will be issued in October and the whole series will be finished in about one year. Quaint colored frontispieces will be a feature of the edition. There will be two editions—one limited to 1000 numbered copies, bound in lambskin, and sold only in complete sets by subscription, and a trade edition bound in "paste grain" leather.

HENRY HOLT & CO. have issued an entirely new edition of their celebrated Gasc's "French-English and English-French Dictionary," which will be known as the Library edition. Since first issued in 1875 this dictionary has held an enviable place among dictionaries, and has been constantly supplemented with the newest information, which is now all embodied in one alphabet, with many new words and translations. The book is printed with three columns to the page, which makes it possible to condense its size remarkably. A chart entitled "Graphic Representation of English and American Literature" has been prepared by Charles W. Kent, of the University of Virginia, covering English literature from the 14th and American literature from the 17th century. A new Modern Language Series is inaugurated, with "First Lessons in French," by Baptiste Méras and Sigmon M. Stern; and "First Lessons in German," also by Mr. Stern, the well-known head of the successful Stern's School of Languages, New York City. Also just ready are "Plant Life," by Charles Reid Barnes, of the University of Chicago, and "A Brief Course in Qualitative Analysis," by Ernest A. Congdon, of the Drexel Institute, Philadelphia.

WEEKLY RECORD OF NEW PUBLICATIONS.*

The abbreviations are usually self-explanatory, c. after the date indicates that the book is copyrighted; the copyright date differs from the imprint date, the year of copyright is added. Books of foreign origin of which the edition (annotated, illustrated, etc.) is entered as copyright, are marked c. ed.; translations, c. tr.; n. p., in place of price, indicates that the publisher makes no price, either net or retail, and quotes prices to the trade only upon application.

Sizes are designated as follows: F. (folio: over 30 centimeters high); Q. (4to: under 30 cm.); O. (8vo: 25 cm.); D. (12mo: 20 cm.); S. (16mo: 17½ cm.); T. (24mo: 15 cm.); Tt. (32mo: 12½ cm.); Fe. (48mo: 10 cm.). Sq., oblong, designate square, oblong, narrow books of these heights.

Altsheler, Jos. A. The rainbow of gold. [New issue.] N. Y., Continental Publishing Co., [1898.] c. '95. 2-228 p. D. cl., $1. [2242]

See notice, "Weekly Record," P. W., April 18, 1898, [1264.]

*Barlow, C., M.D. Day dreams of a doctor. Buffalo, N. Y., P: Paul Book Co., 1898. 251 p. 12°, cl., $1.25. [2243]

Barnes, C: Reid. Plant life considered with special reference to form and function. N. Y., H: Holt & Co., 1898. c. 10+428 p. il. D. cl., $1.12. [2244]

An attempt to exhibit the variety and progressive complexity of the vegetative body; to discuss the more important functions; to explain the unity of plan in both the structure and action of the reproductive organs; and to give an outline of the more striking ways in which plants adapt themselves to the world about them. Intended for pupils from 13 to 18 years who are engaged in genuine laboratory study. The author is professor of plant physiology in the University of Chicago.

Bryan, W: Lowe and Charlotte Lowe. "The republic" of Plato; with studies for teachers. N. Y., C: Scribner's Sons, 1898. 10+316 p. O. cl., net, $1.25. [2245]

Presents with clearness the relation of state to education, as shown in Plato's conception of the ideal government, also directs attention to the simple and convincing thoughts on education and life contained in "The republic" of Plato. The work is divided into five parts. Pt. 1 gives views current in Plato's day on justice, or the right conduct of life; pt. 2 deals with the good state, the good man, and elementary education; pt. 3 treats of the good state, the good man, and higher education; pt. 4 shows the degeneration of the state, and of the individual; pt. 5 concludes with the eternal issues of education. Notes and introductions.

Buckingham, Elinor M., ed. The revival of English poetry in the nineteenth century: selections from Wordsworth, Coleridge, Shelley, Keats, and Byron; with an introd. by Elinor M. Buckingham. N. Y., The Morse Co., 1898. c. '97. 65+257 p. facsimile pors. D. cl., 80 c. [2246]

An attempt to supply material for a systematic study of early nineteenth century poetry. The authors, though differing so widely, really form a group which had a representative part in the development of English literature. Contains bibliography, table of dates, indexes, etc.

Clark, J. Scott. A study of English prose writers: a laboratory method. N. Y., C: Scribner's Sons, 1898. c. 15+879 p. O. cl., net, $2. [2247]

The method consists in determining the particular and distinctive features of a writer's style (using the term style in its wide sense), in sustaining that analysis by a very wide consensus of critical opinion, in illustrating the particular characteristics of each writer by voluminous and carefully selected extracts from his works, and in then requiring the pupil to find in the works of the writer parallel illustrations. The method has grown out of dissatisfaction with results obtained under the old methods of teaching English, and out of the conviction that such a revolution as has taken place in the study of all branches of natural science during the last quarter of a century is both possible and necessary in the study of English.—Preface. Bibliographies of works and magazine articles criticising authors. Covers chronologically from Bacon to Richardson (21 English) and from Irving to Holmes (5 American) authors.

Congdon, Ernest A. A brief course in qualitative analysis. N. Y., H: Holt & Co., 1898. c. 4+72 p. D. buckram, 60 c. [2247]

"It has been the aim in the preparation of this manual to render it as concise as possible with the least sacrifice of a study of reactions and solubilities of chemical importance. The following are the points covered: Preliminary reactions on bases and acids; schemes of analysis for bases and acids, brief explanatory notes on the analyses, treatment of some substances (powders, alloys, or metals), tables of solubilities of salts of the bases studied. A comprehensive list of questions on qualitative analysis completes the manual."—Preface. This one year course has been successfully given in the Rexel Institute.

Cromwell's Soldier's pocket Bible, issued for the use of the army of Oliver Cromwell. A.D. 1643. N. Y., American Tract Soc., [1898.] 32 p. Tt. flex. cl., 4 c.; pap., 2 c. [2248]

Printed from the copy of the original "Soldier's pocket Bible" in the possession of George Livermore Esq., of Cambridge, Mass. The Scripture texts are quoted as they appear in the St. James version. Facsimile of the original title-page is given.

Cutting, Elisabeth Brown. Old taverns and posting inns. N. Y., G: P. Putnam's Sons, 1898. c. 1+243-276 p. (Half moon ser., v. 2, no. 7.) pap., 10 c. [2249]

A record of the historic inns of the colonial period of the eighteenth century, which gives a brief account of the first excise law passed in 1644, and also shows the influence of the tavern in the educational, political, and social life of New Amsterdam. Beginning in 1643 with the "Stadt Harberg," the first recorded inn on Manhattan Island, which was erected on the site now known as 71-73 Pearl Street, facing Coenties Slip, the author traces the history of many noted hosteries, mentioning incidentally the names of the hosts and ending with a description of "Washington Long Room," 1768, still standing in 1788. Contains chronological references.

Darr, Mrs. Francis J. A. Handbook of Spanish words and phrases for the use of our officers and enlisted men in the war with Spain. N. Y., W: R. Jenkins, 1898. 6+22 p. S. pap., 25 c. [2250]

A vocabulary of the most necessary Spanish words in common use, with their English equivalents; containing brief remarks on pronunciation, accentuation, etc. It is dedicated, and the first thousand copies are presented to the soldiers and sailors in the present war.

*Dunbar, Mrs. Virginia Lyndall. A Cuban amazon. Cin., O., The Editor Publishing Co., 1898. il 12°, cl., $1; pap., 50 c. [2251]

An historical novel founded on the life of Evangelina Cisneros.

Gallaher, Ja. E., ed. Representative deaf persons of the United States of America, containing portraits and character sketches of prominent deaf persons (commonly called deaf mutes) who are engaged in the higher pursuits of life. Chic., Ja. E. Gallaher, [1898.] 222 p. pors. O. cl., $1.50. [2252]

Brief biographies of deaf people who have distinguished themselves in commerce, science, art or literature, and as professional men and women. The subjects are arranged in alphabetical order under the states in which they are now living, excepting in the case of Edmund Booth, whose history is the first outlined, and a few instances of people who were educated in American schools and who are now living in foreign countries; these last appear under the names of the states in which they were educated. The author is an instructor in the Chicago public schools for the deaf.

* In this list, the titles generally are verbatim transcriptions (according to the rule of the American Library Association) from books received. Books not received are indicated by a prefixed asterisk and this office cannot be held responsible for the correctness of their record.

Gasc, Ferdinand E. A. A library dictionary of the French and English languages. N. Y., H. Holt & Co., 1898. 8+956 p. O. cl., $4. [2254]

Since the first publication of Gasc's dictionary in 1875 additions and improvements have appeared in every edition. The time seemed ripe for a recasting of the whole, including the merging of the supplements into the body of the work. The present recast edition is much enlarged in contents and printed in more compact shape and is a great improvement on the latest edition of the former work. Strictness of accuracy in the renderings has been conceded to be a distinguishing feature of Gasc's bilingual dictionary.

*Hall, Howard B. Evenings at Shadycroft. Phil., American Baptist Pub. Soc., 1898. 168 p. il. 12°, cl., 73 c. [2255]

Henderson, C: Richmond. Social elements, institutions, character, progress. N. Y., C. Scribner's Sons, 1898. c. 7+405 p. 9 maps and plans, O. cl., net, $1.50. [2256]

An effort to show the part of human association and education in bringing about the social conditions existing in representative centres of the United States, also to incite to personal investigation and individual thought and action. By these methods the author hopes to eventually improve the general situation. The public school is considered a powerful influence in nineteenth century civilization and social progress, and as a means of developing intelligent theories and practical plans for organized work among the social classes. Religion is discussed in relation to the subject. An appendix gives directions for local studies. Intended for the general reader, or as a suggestive study.

*King, K. Douglas. The child who will never grow old: [stories.] N. Y., J. Lane, 1898. 215 p. 8°, cl., $1.25. [2257]

Leach, C.; D.D. Our Bible, where did we get it? and Ten reasons why I believe the Bible is the word of God, by R. A. Torrey. Chic., Bible Institute Colportage Assoc., 1898. c. 5-132 p. D. (Colportage lib., v. 4, no. 64.) pap., 15 c. [2258]

Lester, G: The sacred feast: short discourses on the Lord's supper. N. Y., Eaton & Mains, 1897. c. 3-68 p. T. cl., 35 c. [2259]

Contents: On the duty of church fellowship; On the office of the Holy Spirit in the sacrament of the Lord's supper; On the Lord's supper as a covenanting act; On eucharistic joy; On anticipative communion; Choice extracts.

Lissagaray, P. History of the Commune of 1871; from the French, by Eleanor Marx Aveling. 2d ed. N. Y., International Publishing Co., 1898. 15+500 p. O. cl., $1. [2260]

Mrs. Aveling's translation was made in 1876-77, in accordance with the wishes of the author of "Histoire de la Commune," from the text prepared for a second French edition, which was prohibited by the French Government. It contains many emendations, and nearly 100 pages of additional matter written especially for the original English edition by Lissagaray, who was a soldier of the Commune. The present edition is an unchanged version of the original English edition.

Macduff, J; Ross, D.D., comp. The soldier's text-book; or, confidence in time of war. N. Y., American Tract Soc., [1898.] 64 p. Tt. flex. cl., 5 c.; pap., 3 c. [2261] Bible texts arranged for morning and evening reading.

Massey, G. Betton, M.D. Conservative gynecology and electro-therapeutics: a practical treatise on the diseases of women and their treatment by electricity. 3d ed., rev., rewritten, and enl. Phil., F. A. Davis Co., 1898. c. 14+394 p. il. col. pl. O. cl., net, $3.50. [2262]

In preparing the material for the present edition it was found desirable to rewrite and restate most of the information that relates to electrical therapeutics in the treatment of women. In this edition the nature and causation of the diseases of women are more fully dealt with than they were in the previous issues of the work.

Méras, Baptiste, and Stern, Sigmon M. First lessons in French. N. Y., H. Holt & Co., 1898. c. 3+321 p. D. (New modern language series.) cl., $1. [2263]

See notice below, under Stern, Sigmon M. This French book is the second volume of the series.

Moritz, Mrs. C. F., and Kahn, Adèle. Twentieth century cook-book. N. Y., G: W. Dillingham Co., 1898. c. 2+388+10 blank p. D. cl., $1.50. [2264]

The recipes contained are said to be founded on scientific rules and strictly economical methods; also to have been carefully tested. Includes a chapter on the preparation of luncheons and suppers with menus; and a chapter on diet for invalids, which has been submitted to medical authority. Special attention is given to entrées—in fact, all branches of the culinary art are covered.

*New Amsterdam. Records of New Amsterdam from 1653 to 1764 Anno Domini; ed. by Berthold Fernow. N. Y., printed under the authority of the City of New York, by the Knickerbocker Press, [G: P. Putnam's Sons, 1897.] 7 v. O. shp., ea., $1.50. [2265]

Omar Khayyám. Rubáiyát of Omar Khayyám, the astronomer-poet of Persia; rendered into English verse by E. Fitzgerald, and into Latin by Herbert Wilson Greene. Bilingual ed. Bost., privately printed by Nathan Haskell Dole, 1898. c. 4-61 p. Tt. ed. limited to 950 copies, mor., $1.50; 50 copies on Japan paper, $5. [2266]

"The present bilingual edition of Edward Fitzgerald's paraphrase of the one hundred and two quatrains of Omar or Umar, the tentmaker is designed as a breviary for those who make a sort of cult of the 'Rubáiyát.' Notes and introduction are superfluous; they are omitted. The text, reprinted from the three-volume 'Letters and literary remains' (1894), stands as it was bequeathed to Dr. W. Aldis Wright, of Cambridge, England"—Preface.

Porter, Linn Boyd, ["Albert Ross," pseud.] A new sensation. N. Y., G: W. Dillingham Co., 1898. 3-309 p. D. (Albatross novels, no. 19.) cl., $1; pap., 50 c. [2267]

A celebrated physician advises Donald Camran, a New York society man, whose debilitated condition is due to excesses, to travel and court "a new sensation," and thus rid himself of mental depression. The hero takes a tour in the West Indies, described in a sensational story.

*Potter, Theo., M.D. Essays on bacteriology and its relation to the process of medicine. Indianapolis, Ind., The Bowen-Merrill Co., 1898. 161 p. 12°, cl., $1. [2268]

Robinson, Rowland E. A hero of Ticonderoga. Burlington, Vt., Hobart J. Shanley & Co., 1898. 2+187 p. por. S. cl., 75 c. [2269]

A story founded on the capture of Fort Ticonderoga. The hero was Nathan Beman, Ethan Allen's guide on the memorable day on which Ticonderoga was taken. Besides giving events in the life of young Beman, the author describes scenes of pioneer life in the Lake Champlain district over a century ago, and explains the trouble between the Vermonters and New Yorkers.

*Sanders, D; ed. Encyklopädisches englisch-deutsches u. deutsch-englisches Wörterbuch: ein Parallelwerk zu Sachs-Villate's franz.-deutsch u. deutsch-franz. Wörterbuch, mit angabe der Aussprache nach d. phonetischen System d. Methode Tous-saint-Langenscheidt. Zweiter Teil: Deutsch-englisch. Grosse Ausgabe. In 24 pts. Pt. 6, Deist-Eindr. [N. Y., The International News Co.,] 1898. 465-560 p. 8°, pap., 50 c. [2270]

Continuation of Muret's Encyclopedic English-German and German English Dictionary, popularly known as Muret-Sanders's dictionary.

*Sillway, P. M. Sketches of some common birds. Cin., O., The Editor Publishing Co., 1898. 352 p. il. 12°, cl., $1.50. [2271]

Stern, Sigmon M. First lessons in German. N. Y., H: Holt & Co., 1898. c. 7+292 p. D. cl., $1. [2272]

The first of a series of books to cover the study of modern languages, which are to appear at short intervals. The secret of making a pupil speak a foreign language is to have him hear it from the beginning. The lessons are arranged for the teacher to read aloud, and the same words are then changed around in positive and interrogative sentences until they are wholly familiar to the pupil. The readings and conversations of each volume are followed by a short grammar, condensing the instruction covered in the lessons.

*Stewart, W. M. Analysis of the functions of money. Wash., D. C., W: Ballantyne & Sons, 1898. 94 p. 16°, cl., 50 c.; pap., 25 c. [2273]

Terhune, W. L. My friend the captain; or, two Yankees in Europe: a descriptive story of a tour of Europe. N. Y., G: W. Dillingham Co., 1898. c. 2+278 p. pors. il. D. cl., $1.50. [2274]

A record of personal impressions and interesting incidents of foreign travel, supposed to have been noted during a continental tour taken in the summer of 1897. Germany, England, and France are the countries visited.

Thomas, R. H., M.D. Penelvè; or, among the Quakers: an American story; il. by Osman Thomas. Phil., J. C. Winston & Co., 1898. 7+366 p. il. O. cl., $1.25. [2275]

Penelvè, Pennsylvania, is the scene of a novel written for the purpose of portraying the Quaker home life of that section, also with the intention of showing the spiritual side of the Quaker character. Robert Strongwood, who comes to Penelvè hoping to regain physical strength, meets Bessie Bruce, destined to play an important part in the religious life of Strongwood, who, previous to his association with Bessie, was a pronounced agnostic. The novel gives incidents of the hero's life before and after going to Penelvè, ending with his love-story.

Tiernan, Mrs. Frances C. Fisher, ["Christian Reid," pseud.] The chase of an heiress. N. Y., G: P. Putnam's Sons, 1898. c. '96. 4+261 p. D. (Hudson lib., no. 32.) cl., $1; pap., 50 c. [2276]

An American lawyer named Leslie goes to Santo Domingo to find the heiress to a large fortune. Soon after arriving in Santo Domingo Leslie hears that he has been outwitted by a man called Standford, with whom the prospective heiress, Felisa Ancrim, has left the city. The lawyer thereupon begins a search for the missing Felisa. The results of this interesting quest are made known in a novel, in which two women play equally interesting parts.

Tolstoi, Count Lyoff Nikolaievich. What is art? from the Russian, by C: Johnston. Phil., H: Altemus, 1898. c. 7+298 p. D. cl., $1. [2277]

Tolstoi, Count Lyoff Nikolaievich. What is art? from the Russian original, by Aylmer Maude; embodying the author's last alterations and revisions. N. Y., T: Y. Crowell & Co., [1898.] 16+237 p. por. D. cl., $1. [2278]

"Art is," says Tolstoi, "a human activity consisting in this, that one man consciously, by means of certain external signs, hands on to others feelings he has lived through, and that other people are infected by these feelings and also experience them." He begins with a critical analysis of the term art, as defined by English, German, and French philosophers, showing how the inestimable quality of art is often marred, and sometimes rendered meaningless, by the misapplication of the term, beauty. The art of industry, science, literature, and religion is also defined after Tolstoi's conception. He contends that the mission of the Christian religion is to establish unity of thought and peace. According to author's preface, "What is art?" appears now for the first time in its true form, the Russian edition having been rewritten and materially changed by the censor.

Trask, Spencer. Bowling Green. N. Y., C. P. Putnam's Sons, 1898. 5+84 p. maps, plans, il. O. cl., 75 c. [2279]

The author says "There is no piece of land on Manhattan Island which has retained for a longer period its distinctive name and at the same time fulfilled more thoroughly the purpose of its creation than the small park at the extreme southern end of Broadway, known as Bowling Green." A history of the locality from 1621 to the present year. Mr. Trask revives forgotten scenes of the burgher life of New Amsterdam, introducing much personal history. Many old plates and maps are included, notably a plan of New York in 1695. Quaint and characteristic illustrations accompany the text.

United States bankruptcy act, approved July 1, 1898. N. Y., T. & J. W. Johnson & Co., [1898.] 35 p. O. pap., 25 c. [2280]

Text of "An act to establish a uniform system of bankruptcy throughout the United States."

United States. Treasury Department. War revenue law of 1898; with index. Phil., T. & J. W. Johnson & Co., [1898.] 35 p. O. pap., 25 c. [2281]

Text of "An act to provide ways and means to meet war expenditures, and for other purposes."

*Washington. Index laws, including all the general, local, and private laws, memorials and resolutions, also miscellaneous laws affecting land titles, 1854-1897; by Frank Pierce; to be revised after each legislature. Seattle, Tribune Ptg. Co., 1898. c. 67 p. D. pap., $1. [2282]

*Watson, W. The hope of the world. N. Y., J: Lane, 1898. 83 p. 8°, cl., $1.25. [2283]

Wellby, M. S. Through unknown Tibet. Phil., J. B. Lippincott Co., 1898. 14+440 p. por. il. O. cl., $6. [2284]

The author, a captain in the 18th Hussars [English] says in his preface: "In publishing the following account of a journey across Tibet it has been my object to describe in a simple manner all that I did and saw, in the hope that some future traveller may learn not so much what he ought to do as what he ought not to do." The journey was begun at Lucknow in March, 1896, amidst the distractions of polo and other field games, continued from Simla, the summer capital of India, and ended in the wilds of Waziristan, November, 1897. Profusely illustrated.

The Publishers' Weekly.

FOUNDED BY F. LEYPOLDT.

JULY 30, 1898.

The editor does not hold himself responsible for the views expressed in contributed articles or communications.

All matter, whether for the reading-matter columns or advertising pages, should reach this office not later than Wednesday noon, to insure insertion in the same week's issue.

Books for the "Weekly Record," as well as all information intended for that department, must reach this office by Tuesday morning of each week.

Publishers are requested to furnish title-page proofs and advance information of books forthcoming, both for entry in the lists and for descriptive mention. An early copy of each book published should be forwarded, as it is of the utmost importance that the entries of books be made as promptly and as perfectly as possible. In many cases booksellers depend on the WEEKLY solely for their information. The Record of New Publications of THE PUBLISHERS' WEEKLY is the material of "The American Catalogue" and so forms the basis of all trade bibliography in the United States.

"I hold every man a debtor to his profession, from the which, as men do of course seek to receive countenance and profit, so ought they of duty to endeavor themselves by way of amends to be a help and an ornament thereunto."—LORD BACON.

THE PRESENT SYSTEM OF PUBLISHING.

A HIGHLY interesting and quite instructive study is the tracing of ordinary usages and customs to their original causes. In giving the subject careful thought, it often appears strange that the effects of such causes are stubbornly adhered to long after the causes have been battled with and overcome, and long after almost all concerned have recognized that the usage in question is out of date and almost a menace to the result for which it was first adopted.

Consider in this connection the present system of publishing more than one-half of the books put upon the market for a year during three months of that year. The months of September, October, and November have been selected for the publishing of more books than appear in the other nine months of the year combined. It would seem that this system was inaugurated when methods of communication throughout this vast country were inadequate and inordinately dear, and also when centres of distribution were few, distinctive, and indispensable. It did not pay the jobber to travel more than once a year, and what he did not see when he came to look up stock for his waiting customers remained unsold upon the publishers' hands until the jobber's business justified another trip and he had so little to do that he had time to consider it. The work of getting the publishers' books fell almost entirely upon the consumer, and the retailer liked to do as much as possible in one expensive trip.

But now all this is changed. The publisher not only provides the merchandise but he employs the men that bring it to the doors of the retailer; he even advertises the retailer's stock to the consumers of his locality. The old-time jobber's occupation is practically gone, but the considerations his methods required in the days gone by are retained, although they have really become almost a detriment to the retailer who has taken his place. It is becoming impossible, also, for the reviewer to keep pace with the quantity of new books with which he is swamped during two or three months, and until he has directed the reader the bookseller might as well have poor books as good ones. The average public reads what is told to read by its newspaper or by public opinion, which cannot be started except by time and opportunity; and the bookseller finds himself overstocked and discouraged before the demand for his most promising investments has been naturally and surely created.

It has been stated that one of the reasons for publishing such vast quantities of books just before the Christmas season is that books are more and more used as holiday souvenirs. But would not a book sell just as well for a gift if the public had had time to hear of it and to know from hearsay that it was a desirable book to have? In fact, do not the successes of "The Christian," and "Helbeck of Bannisdale," not to extend the list, which were published in what is generally regarded as an unpromising season, seem to prove that people will read and buy certain books at any season of the year?

Then, again, the publisher spends more money in getting up his books in such a rush and all at one time. The printers and binders get through the enormous accumulation of work with the greatest difficulty. It is said that the amounts paid for overtime during the winter season are enormous. And yet even the workman is not really benefited, because he makes up for a little extra money by half a year of comparative idleness.

The trade seems to have accepted the existing state of things. Everybody grumbles at it, but no one seems to have the necessary courage and originality to make the needed change; and yet such a change would help all concerned, and it might benefit publisher and bookseller financially in the end.

THOUGH the new bankruptcy law went into force on the day it was approved, July 1, 1898, "no petition for voluntary bankruptcy can be filed within one month," after the act becomes law, which will be next Monday, August 1, and "no petition for involuntary bankruptcy can be filed for four months thereafter," or November 1, 1898. The courts of bankruptcy are the United States courts only.

Any person who owes debts, except a corporation, shall be entitled to the benefits of the act as a voluntary bankrupt.

Any natural person, except a wage-earner or a person engaged chiefly in farming or the tillage of the soil, and unincorporated company, and any corporation engaged principally in manufacturing, trading, printing, publishing, or mercantile pursuits, owing debts to the amount of $1000 or over, may be judged an involuntary bankrupt upon default or an impartial trial, and shall be subject to the provisions and entitled to the benefits of the act. Private bankers, but not national banks or banks incorporated under state or territorial laws, may be adjudged involuntary bankrupts. A wage-earner is defined to be a person who does not earn more than $1500 a year.

AN ENGLISH PUBLISHER'S FIGHT WITH A MONOPOLIST.

THE English trade is watching with great interest just now a lively struggle between Harmsworth Brothers and W. H. Smith & Son, the great distributing house. In England the firm of W. H. Smith & Son is all that the American News Company is in this country and something more. They have a practical monopoly of railway paper and book stalls, and for long they have used their power, which is that of a giant, like a giant. The paper that inclines to the unconventional must keep well on the right side of the line drawn by W. H. Smith & Son, or it must forego the custom of the traveller; the novelist of "realism" must keep his eye on that same line. W. H. Smith & Son have settled the vexed question of bookseller's discounts by giving none. The founder of the firm, the late W. H. Smith, M.P., left personality to the extent of some $20,000,000, all made out of the business. The estimate of the present annual profit of the firm varies. No one places it lower than $1,000,000, while some put it at twice that amount. Harmsworth Brothers control daily and weekly publications without number, including the Daily Mail, which claims to have the largest circulation in England.

The casus belli between these two firms is a monthly magazine, entitled Harmsworth's Magazine. Harmsworth Brothers, according to the correspondent of the New York Sun, "determined to produce a monthly for three-pence which was to equal, if not surpass, those published at sixpence and more. Had this magazine been a pill or a soap it would not have been more lavishly advertised. A few days before it was to burst upon an astonished world an advertisement appeared, in large letters, in the papers. W. H. Smith & Son regretted to inform their customers that they would not supply them with the new magazine, as the terms upon which it was offered them precluded them from selling it save at a loss.

"Harmsworth Brothers replied with an advertisement in larger letters. They did not, of course, tell the Smiths that they were saying what was not true; but, to use the words of a costermonger who was criticising the evidence of a policeman one day in a London police court, they insinuated that the great firm 'was handling the truth werry carelessly.' Harmsworth Brothers added words to the effect that they could do without the Smiths; that the Smiths should not have a copy of their magazine, and that if any wholesaler provided Smiths' agents they would put a stop to it.

"W. H. Smith & Son then appealed to the retailers against the publishers' tyranny. Now was the time, said they, for the retailer to make a stand. To this Harmsworth Brothers replied by advertising the terms on which they had offered to supply the Smiths, namely, 2½d. per copy, which would give them a profit of more than 33 per cent. One must suppose that to the wealthy Smith a profit of a mere 33 per cent. appears a dead loss. Be that as it may the wonderful magazine has appeared, and the Smiths and Harmsworths still maintain their mutual boycott. After all the interest roused by the fierce controversy the magazine was perhaps in itself a little bit of an anti-climax. But 617,000 copies had been ordered, and the printing of No. 2 has been suspended to allow No. 1 to be reprinted. So far the honors of the fight lie with the magazine; it sold in the streets of London as fast as a specially engaged band of hawkers could handle it. In fact it sold everywhere, save at the book stalls and agencies of those who had given it its grandest advertisement—W. H. Smith & Son."

PENNSYLVANIA'S "BIRD BOOK."

FORMER State Printer Clarence M. Busch will invoke the machinery of the law to collect his bill of $57,662 from the State of Pennsylvania for printing the innocent-looking pamphlet entitled "Enemies and Diseases of Poultry." This pamphlet was originally about a hundred pages in size and contained a few simple cuts. It was issued by the Agricultural Department, under a law permitting such printing, and took so well that the legislature ordered, by special resolution, 15,000 more copies, the resolution providing that the same should be printed with such other matter added as the editors thought proper.

When the book was finished it was found to be over a thousand pages in size and filled with beautiful pictures of the birds of the State, views in the wooded regions of the State, and other costly plates that were not in the original.

The enlarged condition of the book was brought to the attention of the Attorney-General by Private Secretary Beitler, who denounced the new "bird book" as a "grab." Former Superintendent of Public Printing Robinson refused to audit or approve the bill and soon after went out of office. His successor, Thomas M. Jones, has been served with notice that an alternative mandamus has been granted to compel him to audit, certify, and approve the bill. The matter will come before the court on September 1, when the Attorney-General will defend.

OBITUARY NOTES.

JAMES E. NESMITH, brother-in-law and biographer of the late Governor Greenhalge, died suddenly at Lowell, Mass., on the 26th inst. He was a graduate of Harvard, and, while fitted for the law, had done much literary work and published several volumes of poems, entitled "Monadnoc, and other sketches in verse," and "Philoctetes, and other poems and sonnets."

PROFESSOR ALPHONSE PIERRE OCTAVE RIVIER, of the University of Brussels, a well-known authority on questions of international law, died at Brussels on the 21st inst. He was born at Lausanne, Switzerland, November 9, 1835, and studied law in the Lausanne University and at Berlin. From 1863 to 1867 he served as professor in the University of Berne, and since 1868 in the University of Brussels. Among his better-known works are "Introduction Historique au Droit Romain" (1872), "Traité Élementaire des Successions à Cause de Mort en Droit Romain" (1878), and "Revue Littéraire et Historique des Systèmes et Théories du Droit des Gens Depuis Grotius" (1885). He was also the editor-in-chief of the Revue de Droit International, and of the first six volumes of the "Annuaire de l'Institut de Droit International."

NOTES ON AUTHORS.

RICHARD HARDING DAVIS is at work on a book entitled "The War of '98, from First to Last," which is to be published in due time by Charles Scribner's Sons.

A SHORT dramatic sketch dealing with Clive's career in India has been finished, and may be shortly looked for from the pen of Madame Sarah Grand, in collaboration with Haldan McFall.

ACCORDING to "A Man of Kent" in The British Weekly, Ian Maclaren is the most popular English author in Holland. The leading bookseller in Rotterdam said: "Other books have three months, six months. Yan Maclairen he goes on."

THE gouvernante of Alfred de Musset, Adèle Colin, is about to publish her souvenirs of the poet. She is an old woman of 82, who, after de Musset's death, married a M. Martellet and became proprietor of a small jewelry shop in the Rue du Faubourg St. Honoré, which she has just sold.

MRS. FRANCES HODGSON BURNETT'S divorce has had an unexpected result. She wishes to be known as Mrs. Frances Hodgson. Her publishers say that under any new name she would have to win fame anew, as the reading public knows not Mrs. Frances Hodgson. The name of a well-known writer carries with it real money value, hence her publishers insist she must retain in some way that under which she won honor and fortune.

LORD RONALD GOWER is at present engaged upon a life of Sir Thomas Lawrence, which bids fair to be an important and interesting work. It is to contain many reproductions of portraits by Sir Thomas which have not previously been published, a large number being taken from private collections and some, by permission of the Queen, from the famous Lawrence portraits in the Waterloo Chamber at Windsor, which have not been reproduced hitherto. Goupil & Co. will publish the work next spring, and Lord Ronald Gower has laid aside another work upon which he is engaged so that he may at once finish the Lawrence. This second book is a "History of the Town of London," for which elaborate original illustrations are being prepared.

LEO TOLSTOY contributes to the current number of The New Age the opening chapters of a work entitled "Christian Teaching," (translated by V. Tehertkoff,) which he evidently thinks will be his last message to the world. In his introduction he says: "So that I am urged to do what I do, not by wish for gain or fame, nor by any worldly considerations, but only by fear to fail in what is required from me by Him who has sent me into this world, to Whom I am hourly expecting to return. I, therefore, beg all those who shall read this to follow and understand my writing, putting aside, as I did, all worldly considerations, and holding before them only that eternal Principle of truth and right, by Whose will we have come into the world whence, as beings in the body, we shall very soon disappear; without hurry or irritation let them understand and judge what I say. If they disagree, let them correct me; not with contempt and hatred, but with pity and love. If they agree, let them remember that if I speak truth, that truth is not mine, but God's, and only casually part of it passes through me, just as it passes through every one of us when we behold truth, and transmit it to others."

ACCORDING to the St. Paul Pioneer Press, Mrs. Voynich, the author of "The Gadfly," now in its eleventh edition, is the daughter of George Boole, an eminent English logician. She was born about thirty-three years ago in Ireland, but all her education was gained in London schools. Her husband is a native of Lithuania, in Russian Poland, who, not approving of the methods of the Russian Government, located himself in England, where he met and married Miss Ethel Lillian Boole. He was never a Siberian exile, as has frequently been stated. Before her marriage Mrs. Voynich spent several years on the Continent, but since her marriage she has made her home in London. Of her first attempt in fiction, "The Gadfly," she says: "Both the plot and the characters of the book are purely fictitious. The only piece of actual history in my novel is the account of the conveying of firearms for the Lombardo-Venetian rising from Southampton to Leghorn and across Tuscany to Brisighella and Faenza; and the only historical persons are the smugglers, Marcone and Domenicchino, whom I knew personally in their old age. One of them, a Romagnol peasant, has lately died at the age of eighty-seven in great poverty and utterly neglected and forgotten, after having done more for Italy than many persons to whose memory she has put up monuments. It is only fair to say that his poverty was, to some extent, voluntary; he had been offered a pension for having saved Garibaldi's life at the risk of his own. This pension he refused, saying he worked for Italy, not for money. The old man's name was Luigi Bassani."

BIBLIOGRAPHIC NOTES.

GEORGE K. HAZLITT & Co., 373 Dearborn Street, Chicago, have published a "Catalogue of scientific and technical books for watchmakers, jewellers, engravers, platers, opticians, and kindred trades." Besides their own publications the catalogue contains a number of other books that are thoroughly reliable and up-to-date. (60 p. 32°.)

A CATALOGUE of Japanese printed books and manuscripts in the British Museum Library has been compiled by Professor Douglas, Keeper of the Department of Oriental Printed Books and MSS. There are over 5000 separate Japanese works in the museum, and the entries in the catalogue are arranged in Japanese characters under the names of the authors, and all names and titles are transliterated in English.

SHEEHAN & Co., Ann Arbor, Mich., have published "References on the Teaching of Rhetoric and Composition," by Prof. Fred Newton Scott, of the University of Michigan. Professor Scott about four years ago published a similar list, which was brief and condensed and lacked some important titles. The present list includes all of the former references and about as many more. A few of the titles that have been added relate to composition teaching in France and Germany. The list is intended as the forerunner of a complete bibliography to be issued in the course of the next few months. (21 p. 8°, 15 cents.)

CATALOGUES OF NEW AND SECOND-HAND BOOKS.—E. George & Son, 76 Whitechapel Rd., London, Miscellaneous. (No. 30,471 titles.)—Frank Hollings, 7 Great Turnstile, Holborn, London, Occult, Sporting, Kelmscott Press, etc. (No. 26, 470 titles.)—Richard Löffler, 5 Struvestr, Dresden-A., Saxony, Philosophie und Pädagogie. (No. 3, 965 titles.)—Joseph McDonough, 53 State St., Albany, N. Y., Third and last clearance catalogue. (No. 133, 5126-5997 titles;) also, Remainders. (8 p. 8°.)

JOURNALISTIC NOTES.

THE American Society for the Extension of University Teaching, 111 South 15th Street, Philadelphia, announces that the publication of The Citizen will be suspended until further notice.

The Atlantic Monthly will publish during the fall a number of letters written by Carlyle to his very much younger sister, Mrs. Hanning, who passed many years of her life in Canada. The letters, which are said to show the tenderest and most human side of his nature, are being edited by C. T. Copeland, of Harvard University. The Atlantic will also publish this fall the "Personal Reminiscences of Prince Krapotkin."

A QUARTERLY magazine, officially endorsed by the Psychical Club of Chicago, and published by J. C. F. Grumbine, 7820 Hawthorne Ave., Chicago, Ill., is entitled Immortality. It is devoted to philosophy and will deal especially with the metaphysics of Christian science, divine science, mind cure, mental science, psychopathy, theosophy, occultism, mysticism, and spiritualism. It will also be the organ of the Rosicrucians, or, the Order of the White Rose. The editor is J. C. F. Grumbine, and he has secured the co-operation of such contributors as Annie Besant, W. J. Colville, Franz Hartmann, Swami Saradananda, Swami Abhayananda, and many other equally able writers. A special book review department will receive close attention. A feature of the new magazine is "The Editor's Tripod," which will discuss leading affairs of the times in oracular spirit. Clairvoyance will occupy the September issue exclusively.

BUSINESS NOTES.

AUSTIN, TEX.—The Austin Book and Stationery Company has sold out to the City News and Cigar Company.

BALTIMORE, MD.—John B. Piet, publisher and importer, has removed from 304 East 21st Street, of this city, to White Plains, N. Y.

BETHLEHEM, PA.—Alexander Cruickshank has purchased the stock of Schwartz & Young's bookstore at Main and Broad Streets. Associated with him is C. L. Barron, who has transferred his stock and business to the new concern. The new firm, Barron & Cruickshank, succeeded Schwartz & Young in the business July 16.

BUFFALO, N.Y.—The business of Otto Besser, Sr., bookseller, is advertised to be sold out by the sheriff.

CAMBRIDGE, MASS.—J. H. Woods has removed his "Harvard Book Store" to a more central and desirable location at No. 10 Brattle Street. He has now one of the largest stores in Cambridge, where he can show off to best advantage his fine stock of books, historical china and antique furniture.

CARTHAGE, Mo.—E. M. King, bookseller and stationer in Appleton City, Mo., for twenty-five years, will remove to this city about August 1. Wholesale dealers and manufacturers are requested to call or send catalogues.

DETROIT, MICH.—The stockholders of the Methodist Publishing Company have elected officers, with George O. Robinson as president, and declared a $4000 dividend for the conference claimant's fund.

JACKSON, Miss.—Bailey, Holtz & Fitzhugh, booksellers, have been succeeded by J. W. Fitzhugh & Co.

MINNEAPOLIS, MINN.—The Kingdom Publishing Co. has suspended publication, and the magazine is now in the hands of the Rev. H. W. Gleason, the managing editor. The step was made necessary from the fact that the company, as has already been noted, was forced into the hands of the American Book Co., which held a judgment against the Kingdom for $7500, arising out of the suit for libel, tried recently in the United States Court of this district, which resulted disastrously to the defendant.

NEW YORK CITY.—Judgments have been entered against William J. Arkell, publisher, of No. 110 Fifth Avenue, for $15,102 in favor of the Oriental Bank, for endorsing a note of the Arkell Publishing Company, and for $5073 in favor of P. J. Woodruff, for his endorsement of a note of the Judge Publishing Company.

PETOSKEY, MICH.—Coburn & Harner, booksellers, have been succeeded by Coburn, Harner & Fallas.

URBANA, O.—At the annual meeting of the Urbana Publishing Company, held recently, directors were elected as follows: H. R. Snyder, Jonathan Burgess, George A. Talbott, S. S. Deaton, and C. B. Heiserman. George Talbott was re-elected president, H. R. Snyder vice-president, and Jonathan Burgess business manager.

LITERARY AND TRADE NOTES.

HERBERT S. STONE & CO., Chicago, will publish in the fall "In the Cage," a new novel by Henry James, which has for its principal theme the life of a telephone girl in London.

JOHN LANE has in preparation an edition of Gilbert White's "Natural History of Selborne," with illustrations by Mr. New, whose quaint and vivid drawings for Lane's edition of Walton's "Complete Angler" will be remembered as having made that edition valuable and memorable.

GOVERNOR BLACK, of New York, has granted the requisition of the Governor of Pennsylvania for the extradition of William Mason, otherwise known as "Big Bill" Mason, under arrest in the city of New York for the murder of Major William C. Wilson, bookseller, of Philadelphia, who was found dead on August 16 last.

HENRY T. MINCHEN, of Taunton, Mass., has published an expense book for traveller's use. The book is neatly ruled, with some twenty printed entries, or items to be charged, such as Hotel Bill, Mileage Book, Baggage Transfer, Telegram, Telephone, etc. Rulings at the bottom of each page, with printed captions, show the expenses of the day, cash on hand, cash received, etc.

G. P. PUTNAM'S SONS have just published the fifth part, completing the first volume, of "The English Dialect Dictionary," edited by Joseph Wright. It will be complete in sixteen parts. The scope of the work is to include the complete vocabulary of all dialect words which are still in use or are known to have been in use at any time during the last 200 years in England, Ireland, Scotland, and Wales. Material on the dialects in America has been furnished to the American Dialect Society.

M. F. MANSFIELD, New York, has in press a novel entitled "The Typewriter Girl," a story of London literary life, by Mrs. Olive Prout Rayner; "Trewinnot of Guy's," a story of an enthusiastic young student at the famous Guy's Hospital in London, by Mrs. Coulson Kerferd; "Concerning Teddy," stories of children, by Mrs. Murray Hickson; "A Word to Women," by Mrs. Humphry, author of "Mann for Women," etc.; "Tales of a Civil Engineer," describing the experiences of daring, valor, and adventure which befell the lot of the author, Weathersby Chesney—while engaged in scientific investigations; and "The Intervention of the Duke," a novel by Miss L. Allen Harker, newcomer as a writer of fiction, who is vouches for by W. E. Henley.

LONGMANS, GREEN & CO. will publish shortly "The Companions of Pickle," being a sequel to "Pickle the Spy," by Andrew Lang. Certain criticisms on the theory that Pickle the Spy was Glengarry induced the author to look further into the Jacobite documents at Windsor Castle and elsewhere. The result is this volume—a set of eighteenth century portraits. Among these is a biography, from MSS. and other sources, of the last Earl Marischal, the brother of Field-Marshal Keith, and friend of Frederick the Great. The other studies are on Murray of Broughton, the traitor, the traitor Banisdale, the Treasure of Cluny, the Troubles of the Camerons (1749–1755), the Prosecution of Fassifairn, the Adventures of John Macdonell of Scotus, the last days of Glengarry, and on Mlle. Luci, the mysterious lady minister of Prince Charles. The volume concludes with a statement of the case against Glengarry, from hitherto unpublished documents, including his private letters, and with a view of the state of the Highlands between the Rising of 1745 and the great migration to America. Portraits of the Earl Marischal, Prince Charles and others are given in photogravure.

THOMAS WHITTAKER has in preparation a library edition of "Cathedrals of England," by Herbert Railton, with 168 illustrations bound in two royal octavo volumes, with Florentine wrappers; "Romance of Glassmaking," a sketch of the history of ornamental glass, by Walter Gandy; "Frances E. Willard, the story of a noble woman," by Florence Witt; "Visions," Sunday morning sermons at St. Bartholomew's, New York, by Rev. David L. Greer, D.D.; "Questions and Answers about the Bible, a handbook of Bible study," by Rev. Albert W. Hitchcock; "The Incarnate Word and other sermons," by Rev. Anthony Schuler, D.D.; "The Patriots of Palestine, a story of the Maccabees," by Charlotte M. Yonge; "My Lady's Slippers," by Mary H. Debenham; "The Autobiography of a Bulldog," "A Roman Household," and other juveniles.

books. He has also in preparation a cheap edition of the popular year-book, "Royal Helps for Loyal Living," to retail for just half the original price. In his well-known series of anatomical models he will publish a carefully executed life-size model of the human body from head to foot, to retail for about one-third the price heretofore charged for similar models.

FOREIGN NOTES.

JOHN MURRAY, London, will publish shortly a volume of "Letters by Benjamin Jowett," edited by Mr. Abbott and Professor Lewis Campbell.

ARCHIBALD CONSTABLE & CO., London, will publish in September "Joseph Andrews," the first of a library edition, in twelve volumes, of Fielding's works. Edmund Gosse will edit the series and furnish an introductory essay.

FRANCE'S Imprimerie Nationale is preparing as a show piece for the exhibition of 1900 "The History of French Printing in the Fifteenth and Sixteenth Centuries," by A. Claudin, with 1200 plates of reproductions from rare books.

SAMPSON LOW, MARSTON & CO. have made arrangements with the Dibdin Club to publish a limited English edition of Growoll's "Book-Trade Bibliography in the United States in the XIXth Century," the American edition of which is now nearly out of print.

THE publication of Paget Toynbee's "Dante Dictionary," which was to have been brought out in London this month, has been postponed until the fall. Mr. Toynbee is said to confine himself rather to the philological part of Dante's diction, and has little to say of scholastic philosophy in interpreting the phrases.

BERNARD QUARITCH, London, has just ready a sumptuous folio, with 67 colored plates, entitled "Old Wedgwood: the decorative or artistic ceramic work, in color and relief, invented and produced by Josiah Wedgwood, at Etruria, in Staffordshire, 1760-1794," with biographical and descriptive chapters, a list of marks used at Etruria, and explanatory text to each object, illustrated by Frederick Rathbone.

LEONARD SMITHERS, London, announces an edition of Ben Jonson's celebrated comedy, "Volpone; or, the Foxe," which was first brought out at the Globe Theatre in 1605, and printed in quarto in 1607. The volume is intended as an edition de luxe, and is embellished with a cover design, a frontispiece in line, and five initial letters, decorative and illustrative, reproduced from pencil drawings by the late Aubrey Beardsley.

H. LE SOUDIER, Paris, has published in his Bibliothèque Graphologique "Portrait Intime d'un Ecrivain," (Private Character of a Writer,) judged by six lines of his handwriting. The writer in question is Armand Ocampo. This is a very learned study of graphology by many French and foreign authors. The various traits of character read in the few lines of careless writing are clearly put, criticised, and argued upon by the contributors in a very suggestive manner. The vice-president of the Société de Graphologie is the Baronesse Isabelle Ungern-Sternberg, who contributes to this study of character as shown in handwriting.

TERMS OF ADVERTISING.

Under the heading "Books Wanted," subscribers only are entitled to a free insertion of five lines for books out of print, exclusive of address (in any issue except special numbers), to an extent not exceeding 100 lines a year. If more than five lines are sent, the excess is at 10 cents per line, and amount should be enclosed. Bids for current books and such as may be easily had from the publishers, and repeated matter, as well as all advertisements from non-subscribers, must be paid for at the rate of 10 cents per line.

Under the heading "Books for Sale," the charge to subscribers and non-subscribers is 10 cents per line for each insertion. No deduction for repeated matter.

Under the heading "Situations Wanted," subscribers are entitled to one free insertion of five lines. For repeated matter and advertisements of non-subscribers the charge is 10 cents per line.

All other small advertisements will be charged at the uniform rate of 10 cents per line. Eight words may be reckoned to the line.

Parties with whom we have no accounts must pay in advance, otherwise no notice will be taken of their communications.

Parties desiring to receive answers to their advertisements through this office must either call for them or enclose postage stamps with their orders for the insertion of such advertisements. In all cases we must have the full address of advertisers as a guarantee of good faith.

BOOKS WANTED.

[RE] In answering, please state edition, condition, and price, including postage or express charges.

Houses that are willing to deal only on a cash-on-delivery basis will find it to their advantage to put after their firm-name the word [Cash].

[RE] Write your wants plainly and on one side of the sheet only. Illegibly-written "wants" will be considered as not having been received. The "Publishers' Weekly" does not hold itself responsible for errors.

It should be understood that the appearance of advertisements in this column, or elsewhere in the "Publishers' Weekly," does not furnish a guarantee of credit. While it is endeavored to safeguard these columns by withdrawing the privilege of their use from advertisers who are not "good pay," booksellers should take the usual precaution, as to advertisers not known to them, that they would take in making sales to any unknown parties.

WHAT IS ART

By COUNT TOLSTOI.

Authorized translation by

AYLMER MAUDE.

Embodying the author's last alterations and revisions.

"This work Tolstoi has been thinking of for fifteen years, and it is the result of long reflection. The author gives proof of satirical wit as well as vigor of thought. In all the pages appears the enthusiasm of deeply religious thought dominated by the ideal of universal fraternity."—M. RENÉ DOUMIC in the Revue des Deux Mondes.

COPIES ONLY

remain, and the price, as per previous notice, is now raised to $15 in paper and $17.50 in half morocco binding. The type is distributed, and no more can be printed. When the supply on hand has been reduced to the price will be raised to $17.50 in paper and $20 in half morocco. Any library, bookseller, or collector who has not a copy should order before it is too late.

ONLY 71 copies still remain of the Subject Volume of the American Catalogue for 1876, which we will supply for $12.50 in paper and $15 in half morocco. This is of especial value in libraries and bookstores which cannot now buy the Author Volume, as, except novels, juveniles, etc., it gives the same books, rearranged by subjects. The price of this work also will be raised when the stock is reduced to 50 copies.
